Wembley footbridge

What's the most significant name or moment in Wembley Stadium's history?
Answer: .....

The London Development Agency (LDA) has launched a competition to name its new state-of-the-art footbridge in Wembley.

The footbridge will help link the new National Stadium to the town centre and is part of the Agency's investment of more than £85m in the area. It has been designed by the architects of the London Eye, Marks Barfield, and will open out onto a new square – just a few hundred metres from the stadium.

Have your say on what to call the bridge by stating what you think is the most significant name or event in Wembley Stadium's history. You'll then go in the draw to win a signed England football shirt. Nominations end 15 March 2005.

Fields marked with an asterisk (*) are required fields.

The new footbridge should be called:*

Reason (if appropriate)

My email address (supply to go into the draw for an England shirt)*
